

WHAT WILL YOUR CHILDREN LEARN FROM THEIR TOYS?

ASK YOURSELF THESE IMPORTANT QUESTIONS
BEFORE YOU PURCHASE A TOY!

Is this an appropriate toy for a child?

What will your child learn from this toy?

Does this toy promote positive, cooperative play?

Does this toy teach your child values that you want to encourage?

In play a child learns values and practices adult roles.
The toys tht we choose for our children communicate our own values and what we think is important.

Do we want our children to assume that we value violence
by letting them play with toys that promote, celebrate or depict violence?
Do we want our children to believe that we think that conflicts are best resolved through force and violence,
or are there other values that we want to communicate?

CHILDREN ARE OUR FUTURE, LET'S TEACH THEM WELL!!

For information on positive alternatives, contact the Children and Nonviolence Committee of The Peace Resource Center of San Diego
3850 Westgate Place, San Diego, CA 92105
(619) 263-9301