Universal Restoration, Frank Ramirez - Universal Restoration, the belief that all people will be redeemed in the final judgment regardless of their sin, has been controversial for all Christian history. 7. Enemylove, Matt Guynn - Matt redirects our thinking from responses to violent situations, such as war and assault, to responses to people, especially our enemies. For pacifists who have long debated whether we should be nonresistant or actively nonviolent, Jesus offers another way, the power of love. 8. Saving the Church, Jonathan Hunter, The survival of the church has been a growing concern for individuals and church leaders. Since the 1950's membership in almost all denominations has declined and so has the church's influence on society at large. Drawing on Luke 9:23-25, Jonathan says new life for the church of Jesus Christ can come about only as the body of Christ is willing to lose its life. His thoughtful proddings will challenge readers to think in new ways about church revitalization. 9. Fundamentalism, Graydon Snyder, The forces of fundamentalism have rocked politics and religion in the 21st century on both the radical right and the radical left. The impact can be felt in many of our institutions, including the wider church and our own denomination. Graydon explains the phenomenon and why Brethren theology and fundamentalism don't mix. 10. To Judge or Not to Judge, Timothy Harvey, How can we judge without being judgmental? With careful study of key scripture passages, Tim Harvey makes the case for the church to return to the practice of biblical admonishment. He offers practical advice on the spirit and manner in which discipline can be reclaimed in the church today. 11. Nonconformity, Kenneth Gible, Early eighteenth-century Brethren believed that obedience to Christ meant "separation" for the world. In dress, lifestyle, values, and distinct religious practices, the Brethren sought to establish their "differentness." Stating that "nonconformity, in and of itself, is no virtue," Ken challenges the reader to see that the Apostle Paul's appeal for nonconformity to the world also includes a call to be transformed into a new creation. Study questions included. ($2.50 @)
